San Diego Power solar Glass

Overview

Does San Diego have solar panels?

The intense California sun is a boon to those with solar panels, as that bright sunshine spells more affordable power. San Diego currently has more solar rooftops than any other city in California, and with an average of 266 days of sunshine per year, that translates into a great deal of power collected by those panels.

Is San Diego a good place for solar energy?

San Diego County also is a great location for solar energy, with abundant sunshine, clear blue skies nearly year-round and a prevailing political climate that supports solar power and other environmentally-friendly initiatives. San Diego has twice been ranked as the solar capital of the United States, in 2009 and again in 2012.

Does San Diego have a rooftop solar system?

Those savings have spurred tremendous growth in rooftop solar installations in San Diego. New residential systems decreased by 36 percent between 2016 and 2017, according to the Center for Sustainable Energy. However, with new legislation requiring new homes to include solar, those numbers will likely increase.

Is San Diego a solar city?

San Diego has twice been ranked as the solar capital of the United States, in 2009 and again in 2012. There are more roof tops with solar panels in San Diego than any other city in the United States and Sullivan Solar Power has installed more than 8,000 solar energy systems in San Diego and neighboring counties. That's a lot of sunshine.
