Could off-grid power save data centres money?

The study finds that off-grid generation could deliver both lower costs and emissions than conventional grid power. It highlights the feasibility of using hybrid renewable energy systems that combine wind, solar, gas and battery storage to provide reliable and sustainable energy to data centres without access to grid connections.

Will 2025 be the year of grid-independent microgrid power for data centres?

2025 will be remembered as the year grid-independent microgrid power for data centres became mainstream, fundamentally reshaping the provision of renewable energy at scale. The full Technoeconomic Feasibility of Wind and Solar Generation for Off-Grid Hyperscale Data Centres report is available for free download .

Will data centres need a grid connection in 2030?

The forecast of 200GW of demand by 2030 could be an underestimate. What cannot be underestimated or doubted is that the power for data centres needs to be renewable, economically viable, secure and long term. But just as renewables are changing the power generation landscape, a lack of grid connections is causing concern.

Could Hybrid microgrids become a standard model for data centre development?

As demand for sustainable data centre power grows, the shift toward on-site, grid-independent power generation is accelerating. The CREST study highlights the potential for hybrid renewable microgrids to become the standard model for new data centre developments.
