Solar inverter replacement conditions

Overview

When should a solar inverter be replaced?

Proactive planning inverter replacement is crucial for maintaining continuous solar system performance. Industry experts recommend starting replacement preparations when your inverter reaches 8-10 years of operation, even if it's still functioning well.

How much does a solar inverter cost?

Here's an estimated replacement cost for a solar inverter: String inverters are the more affordable option for PV system owners to consider. This type of inverter operates by gathering DC from a sequence of solar panels, known as a 'string'. The solar inverter replacement cost generally ranges from R10,000 to R30,000.

How long does a solar inverter last?

The need for solar inverter replacement is typically signaled by a decrease in the energy output of a solar PV system or operational issues that indicate inefficiency or failure. While most inverters have a lifespan of about 5 to 10 years, their longevity can be extended up to 15 years with high-quality equipment and regular maintenance.

Does a solar inverter need a warranty?

If your solar inverter is under warranty, the manufacturer could cover the replacement cost, either partially or in full. The type of warranty (limited/full), its coverage time, and the parts covered significantly impact your potential out-of-pocket expenses.
